

The Business Times had published a very relevant article today which relates to the present lacklustre Singapore Stockmarket. Our President, Nalla, had also shared his valuable inputs.

We, The Society of Remisiers are confident that we can bring back the vibrancy to the Stockmarket, if the various stakeholders like MAS, SGX, SRS, SAS, SIAS, Educational Institutions etc can come together to brainstorm ideas & come up with viable solutions to chart a medium to long-term plan.

There are 2 key ingredients to a Vibrant Market i.e. 1. Liquidity & 2. Confidence. There's abundant liquidity in Singapore earning ridiculously low interest rates like 0.05%. These funds could be better channelled to the Singapore Market where many companies are giving very decent dividend yields of 3% or more. For Liquidity to be flowing back to the markets, to its once glory days in the 1990's, Confidence needs to be rebuilt. Retail investors need to be confident that their interests will be well-protected & if there are grievances either SGX or MAS will be able to hear them & take timely corrective actions.

Let's bring back the vibrancy to the Singapore Stockmarket & make it a premier one once again in the region if not the world!
